Our Plastic-Free, Zero Waste Lunch Bag Successful on Kickstarter

When we launched our first ever Kickstarter campaign in the summer of 2017, we were excited to share with the world a product that we viewed as revolutionary - a zero waste, organic, plasticfree, machine-washable lunch bag. We are so proud of this product, as we don't see anything like it on the market. The world is inundated with plastic lunch bags that last maybe a year, get ridden with bacteria through the plastic cracks, and are difficult to clean thoroughly. But most importantly, awareness is growing that plastic is a toxic material, and it really should not be in direct contact with our food. From an environmental standpoint, the generic lunch bag is an environmental nightmare, as it is made up of plastic that is mostly unrecyclable, difficult to wash, generally unrepairable (except maybe with duct tape!), and likely destined to end up in a landfill after a year or two of regular use.

A few years ago, our friend Jean Corriveau, owner of the organic mattress company Obasan, contacted us to ask if we might have a use for a GOTS-certified mixed organic wool and cotton textile he had created using up all the leftover scraps from his mattress manufacturing process. What he showed us gave us the idea of using it as a thick fabric panel that holds together nicely and could be included in the lining of a lunch bag for extra insulation. Because of their shape, the panels could be inserted and removed easily, making it a breeze to clean the bag. So with the help of Tracey Vibert, a local seamstress, we created the prototype for a lunch bag that is plastic-free, durable, easily-repairable, machinewashable and will keep food warm or cold for a significant period of time.

The product idea was great, but we were uncertain customers would want to pay $40 to $50 for such a lunch bag, thus the idea of creating a Kickstarter campaign to test the waters. When the Clean Lunch Bag was launched on Kickstarter, we were overwhelmed with the response. TreeHugger claimed our lunch bag "was unlike any other" and the campaign surpassed our fundraising goal of CAD $3,000, to a whopping CAD $22,021 with 300 backers!

We are overjoyed with the number of people who are trying to reduce their daily plastic use, and we want to make this product accessible to everyone, not just our Kickstarter backers. For anyone interested in one of these bags when they reach the market, fill out the form associated with our campaign on the Kickstarter website or enter this link in your browser: http://bit.ly/2wFHAxL. We will contact you when the design has been perfected and our Clean Lunch Bag is ready to ship worldwide!

Freezycup holder is made in Brant's shop by Brant's hands, using locally sourced high quality solid maple.

Local sourcing makes a lot of sense. It supports local craftspeople like Brant, uses local materials, and vastly decreases the shipping distance and related fossil fuel emissions for the finished product. It's pretty hard for us to locally source some of the things that we think are important for a plastic-free lifestyle like stainless steel and glass containers but we are always on the lookout for ways to use local talent and resources in our products. Another example is our Clean Lunch Bag...read more about that on p. 9.

Local sourcing, the plastic-free way Brant Luciuk is one laid back guy. With his gentle smile and listening nature he epitomizes the idea of going with the flow. He is an artist and master woodworker, something of a magician with wood, especially when it comes to making his specialty: signs. He's also a pretty darn talented musician, and he lives in our local community of Wakefield, Quebec, Canada.

Many years ago, Brant created a funky wooden sandwich board sign to put in front of the boutique we used to have. We loved it. So when we were looking to create a holder for our Freezycup popsicle molds, we thought, "Why not wood? Let's ask Brant." We gave him free reign, and he came up with an utterly elegant and simple design. Each custom made

OUR BOOK!

Life Without Plastic:The Practical, Step-by-Step Guide to Avoiding Plastic to Keep Your Family and the Planet Healthy

We've always wanted to write a book about living without plastic, and now it has become a reality. We've done our best to distill our years of experience learning about the plastics issue and seeking out alternatives from all over the world into a detailed but easily accessible plastic-free living primer. It took us about a year to write the final text, but it's really more than a decade in the making. The goal of the book is to help you make simple changes in your life to improve your and your family's health and the health of our shared global environment.

And here's how it's laid out:

- After an inspiring foreword by one of our plastic-free heros, Beth Terry creator of the My Plastic-Free Life blog and author of Plastic Free: How I Kicked the Plastic Habit and How You Can Too we tell you our story, including the life challenges that prompted us to start Life Without Plastic as we sought to avoid our son being exposed to chemicals leaching out of plastics.
- We offer some immediate, quick-action plastic reduction tips that can be done by anyone, anywhere, right now.
- Then we take a walk through the plastics landscape explaining what plastic is, different types and their toxicity, recycling, bioplastics, alternative raw materials.

- We help you do an audit of your living space to determine the current level of plastic.
- Then we go through the home, room by room, offering up suggestions for plastic-free alternatives to create a healthier living space.
- Outside the home, we're by your side with suggestions, wherever you are: restaurant, gym, office, school, university, in the woods, or travelling across the globe.
- Finally, we offer up suggestions for moving beyond your personal sphere of life to radiate a plastic-free lifestyle through art, citizen science, plastic-free events and community initiatives.
- Along with all the tips and techniques throughout the book – the "how to's" – at the end is a comprehensive resources section for products, books, films, videos, and organizations contributing to creating plasticfree change.

It's our son who sparked us on this journey of living without plastic and we want him to grow up in a world where breathing-drinking-eating microplastic particles is not normal, and finding plastic bags and bottles on the beach is a travesty of the past. Hopefully this book will help others along that same path plastic-free path. Onward!

"I thought I knew a lot about cutting down on single use plastic, but Jay and Chantal's book, Life Without Plastic, has given me hope for what is possible in eliminating this toxic threat from our lives. After reading it, I'm upping the ante with cotton sandwich bags, a steel dip container, and a tiffin! Who knew I needed a tiffin! I'm much closer to my goal of a plastic-free life, owing to this wonderful book."

- Ed Begley, Jr., actor and sustainable living expert

"Eliminating plastics is a core step of waste-free living. This guide will not only make the planet and your family healthier, it will improve your standard of living so greatly that all you'll regret is not having started earlier!"

- Bea Johnson, author of Zero Waste Home.

"Chantal and Jay are researchers like myself, but rather than doing research on the vagrant plastic trash in the ocean, they research alternatives to plastic so that I won't find it at sea. Life Without Plastic is a must read for the plastic conscious consumer."

- Captain Charles Moore, Founder and Research Director, Algalita Marine Research and Education

As the Co-Founders of The 5 Gyres Institute, we have had a chance to witness the impacts of plastic pollution globally, covering a quarter of our planet's surface in a plastic smog that threatens marine wildlife, and ultimately our own health. What we now need are actionable solutions that everyday people can take to reduce their plastic footprint. Jay and Chantal's wonderful book provides a clear roadmap for protecting our families, our oceans, and our personal health from the dangers of single use plastic. We're thrilled to see Life Without Plastic out in the world!

- Anna Cummins & Marcus Eriksen, Co-Founders, The 5 Gyres Institute

You can also share products from your box with your friends and family and share your plastic-free living message in a non-judgmental and unintrusive way. Get the box subscription for yourself, a dear friend, a family member, a couple getting married. It's a gift that keeps giving for only $75 per quarter (or less when you subscribe for a year), shipping included.

Available in North America only.

ABOUT OUR PRODUCTS

Our products are made of high quality natural materials including glass, wood, stainless steel, bamboo, hemp, cotton, wool, khadi, cellulose, recycled paper. In a world so dependent on plastic, it is a challenge to find certain products with no plastic components. Therefore, some of our products do feature plastic parts, but these parts are made of high quality, stable plastic and will have little or no contact with your food or beverage. We work with our suppliers constantly to progressively develop new products with no plastic at all. Product quality is crucial to us. We choose products made of safe materials free of known toxins such as bisphenol A (BPA), phthalates and lead. We ensure our products meet Canadian and U.S. government standards; our products tend to far exceed them. This includes regulations set out in the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act (CPSIA), which require us to have testing done for lead and phthalates in a third party accredited laboratory.

ETHICAL SOURCING AND GREEN CERTIFICATION

Ethical sourcing means ensuring that the products being sourced are created in safe facilities by workers who are treated well and paid fair wages to work legal hours. It also implies that the supplier is respecting the environment during the production and manufacture of the products. This is an issue we take very seriously. We go to great lengths to ensure our products are ethically sourced, whether the product is one of our own branded Life Without Plastic products, or from another supplier.

Life Without Plastic has gone through a rigorous screening process and been granted Green America's top tier Gold Seal of Approval. Green America is a not-for-profit organization with the mission of harnessing economic power – the strength of consumers, economic power – the strength of consumers, and the marketplace – investors, businesses, and the marketplace - to create a socially just and environmentally sustainable society

Quick Tips to Reduce Your Plastic Exposure and Waste

- · Carry your own reusable bag, bottle, coffee mug, takeout food container, utensils, straw..
- Store food and drink in glass or stainless steel ideally.
- Avoid plastic cling wraps, especially in the microwave. Alternatives include beeswax-coated cotton canvas (not for microwave use), paper towel, or a plate to cover food. If you must use them, ensure the plastic does not touch the food. For deli foods wrapped in plastic cling wrap - which is likely PVC #3 - slice off a thin layer where the food was in contact with the plastic and store in a container or use a non-PVC wrap.
- Avoid polycarbonate (#7) in its various forms baby bottles, water bottles, food containers, the large blue water storage containers often used in office water coolers. Polycarbonate leaches bisphenol A. If you must use such containers, avoid leaving them in the sun, heat or cold, and transfer the food or liquid to a safer container as soon as possible.
- REFUSE disposable, single-use plastics bags, bottles, utensils, straws don't be part of the waste problem!
 Don't heat, freeze or microwave foods in plastic containers. The temperature extremes cause the plastic tainers. The temperature extremes cause the plastic to degrade and leach chemicals faster. Leaching also increases when plastic comes into contact with oily or fatty foods, or when the plastic is scratched, worn, cracked or sticky. If it says "microwave safe" that does not mean it won't leach chemicals.
 - Buy in bulk to minimize packaging and improve health less canned, over-packaged & processed foods. Leave excess packaging in the store.
 - · Seek out or opt for dry vs. wet detergents, soaps, shampoo bars packaged in paper or cardboard.
 - Take action! Contact companies & elected officials and urge them to phase out dangerous plastics like polyvinyl chloride, polystyrene, and polycarbonate – and especially in products designed for children.

CERTIFICATES

Not sure what to give to some one you love? Regardless of the occasion, a gift certificate opens the door wide open to a truly meaningful offering. You are giving the gift of safe, high quality, ethically-sourced, Earthfriendly, plastic-free choice, and with over 400 products to choose from in our store you can be pretty much certain the recipient will find something they like and will use.

And as with the gift registry, gift certificates add to that growing global wave of awareness-building about plastic-free, zero waste living. They are really a double whammy against plastic pollution because you are reducing your own plastic footprint and raising the consciousness of others about the issue, perhaps exponentially. One friend told another friend, and so on, and so on, and so on...

Do you like what we're doing here and want to make some extra ongoing passive income while helping others live with less plastic? There is simply no greater force than word of mouth, and being an affiliate is kind of like digital word of mouth. And it's open to anyone, anywhere, anytime.

The Life Without Plastic affiliate program is free to join and requires no technical knowledge. All you need is a PayPal account. All direct sales generated via your unique link will be tracked, and you'll receive a commission on the value of those sales (less expenses such as taxes). On average, each referral that leads to a sale could bring you between $4 and $5. It's a 100% win-win program and there is no cost on your part. You don't even need a website or a blog. You can earn commissions simply by talking about us on your Facebook, Twitter, Instagram or other social media accounts.
